

Wear Historically, wear of material can be traced to very early periods of human history. Leonardo da Vinci is known to have had an interest in friction but he was characteristically well ahead of his time, and consistent interest in friction and wear awaited the further development of machines. Such interest was growing in 1699 when Amontons began to perform friction experiments to be followed in successive periods

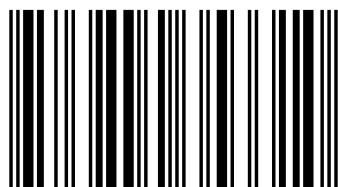

Abdulhadi kadhim
Ahmed Al-Amiery
Hathaim Talib

Wear in Progress View

Abdulhadi kadhim

Dr. Abdulhadi Kadhim, 45 years old working assistant professor at the University of Technology in Iraq, oversaw many of the graduate students and I have a lot of research published in local and international journals .

978-3-8443-5331-0

 LAMBERT
Academic Publishing